

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

EDITOR'S PREFACE.

THE Fifth Volume of the Catalogue of Oriental Coins in the British Museum comprises the money of the North-African and Spanish Moors and of the various dynasties of kings and Imáms who ruled in Arabia Felix in Mohammedan times. Fraehn's classes, XIVB. and XXVII., correspond to apart of the contents of this volume, but his arrangement does not provide for all the series herein included.

The metal of each specimen is stated, and its size in inches and tenths, in the same manner as in the preceding volumes. The weight of the examples in gold and silver is stated in English grains, except in the case of the modern issues of the Shereefs of Marocco, when only typical weights are given. Tables for converting grains into grammes, and inches into millimètres, as well as into the measures of Mionnet's scale, are given at the end of the volume (pp. 173—175).

Typical specimens are figured in the seven plates, which are executed by the autotype mechanical process from casts in plaster.

The work has been written by Mr. Stanley Lane Poole; and I have carefully revised it, comparing every coin with the corresponding description.

REGINALD STUART POOLE.

INTRODUCTION.

THE present volume consists of two parts: the first is concerned with the dynasties of North Africa and Spain from A.H. 448 to the present day; the second describes the rare coinages of the various dynasties of the Yemen or Arabia Felix.

The African portion is the chronicle of the decay of the Mohammadan power in the West. We have seen (in Vol. II. pp. 56—63) how the Benee-l-Aghlab established their rule over the wide littoral territory governed by the legates of the Khaleefehs in Tripoli, Tunis, Algiers, and Marocco. The Aghlabee dominion in Africa was the period of the greatest ascendancy of the Arabs in the Mediterranean. Not only were the Aghlabees for the most part civilized and enlightened princes, given to the encouragement of science and letters, and prone to magnificence in the embellishment of their chief cities, but they were ambitious and aggressive sovereigns. As soon as they had accomplished the difficult task of effecting a union between their Arab and Berber subjects, they turned their thoughts to the acquirement of a maritime supremacy. They equipped a fine navy, with which they ravaged the coasts of France and Italy, and the Saracen corsairs became the terror of the Mediterranean. In A.H. 216 they were masters of Sicily, whence they exerted that stimulating influence on European science and philosophy which is inseparably associated with the Arab dominion in the West. They established themselves on the Adriatic, took Malta and Sardinia, and even invaded the suburbs of Rome.

But the wide territory of the Aghlabees, which had once stretched from Egypt to the Straits, had been limited by the encroachments of the kingdom which the Idreesees had founded at Fez (Vol. II. pp. 53—55) in the extreme West ; and the growth of this kingdom, combined with the cruelty and incapacity of the later Aghlabee princes, and the increase of sectarian disaffection under the fostering influence of the Shíya'ee Dá'ees, or Missionaries, whom the heretical Idreesees had encouraged to make Africa their field of operations, prepared the way for the Fátímee conquest in A.H. 296 (Vol. IV. pp. 1—59). The empire of the Fátímees included the whole of Africa from Egypt to Marocco (which was also reduced for a time, but could not be held), with Sicily and Sardinia. The Idreesees, strengthening themselves by professing allegiance to the Amawee Khaleefehs of Cordova, still held Fez and Marocco, and the tribe of the Miknasa had effected an independent position in the same quarter. On the Fátímee conquest of Egypt in 356, and the consequent removal of their seat of government from El-Mahdeeyeh to Cairo, their wide territory became split up into various smaller kingdoms. The lieutenant whom they had invested with the vice-government of Africa, Yoosuf Belkeen, chief of the Sanhaja tribe, soon declared himself independent, and founded the dynasty of the Zeyrees ; but his power was greatly limited by the aggressions of his neighbours, the Hammádees of Algiers, who reduced the Zeyree territory to little more than Tunis, and even within these restricted boundaries the princes of this house found no little difficulty in retaining the allegiance of the refractory tribes who dwelt in their dominions. Other tribes had made themselves independent in the West, after the fall of the Idreesees ; and in Spain, the brilliant rule of the Khaleefehs of Cordova had come to its dotage, and a variety of petty princes, chief among whom were the Benes Hammood of Cordova and the Benes 'Abbád of Seville, were fighting over the feeble representatives of that once great and illustrious House. Alfonso VI. took Toledo and all the Peninsula north of the Tagus, and closely pressed the divided Muslims; the Genoese retook Sardinia, the Normans Sicily, the Venetians Crete; and the conquests of the Aghlabees were thus rapidly lost, whilst their successors the Zeyrees were too busy in keeping what they could of their African dominions to give a thought to the once coveted and attained supremacy in the Mediterranean. They could not even protect Tunis from the invasion of Roger II. It seemed as though the rule of the Arabs in the West was already doomed.

At this moment the Murábiṭs, or Almoravides, whose coinage begins the present volume (pp. 1—30), came to the rescue of the despairing Moors. Abou-Bekr, the general, and 'Abd-Allah, the prophet, of the Lamtuna Berbers, seized Sijilmáseh, crossed the Atlas range, and firmly established their authority at Aghmát (A.H. 460). Under the skilful generalship of Abou-Bekr's second-cousin, Yoosuf ibn Táshifeen, Fás (Fez), Miknáseh (Mequinez), Sebteh (Ceuta), Tanjeh (Tangiers), Selá (Salee), and the rest of Marocco, were subdued in the course of the next fifteen years; and a little later, at the invitation of the Spanish Arabs, who were losing ground before Alfonso, Yoosuf crossed the Straits, and after some hard fighting with the Christians secured Southern Spain for a time to the Muslims, and incorporated it (with the exception of Saragoza) in the Murábiṭ empire, which now embraced Andalusia, Marocco, and part of Algiers. The Hammádees still held the coast further east.

The Murábiṭ success was not signal: they only accomplished a temporary halt in the decay of the Muslim power. They produced little impression on the Christians in Spain, who continued a steady advance; the Mediterranean was lost for ever, and even part of Africa itself was no longer in Mohammadan hands. The work of the Muwahhids or Almohades (pp. 31—50) who succeeded them was more complete. This religious sect,* springing from the Masmuda Berbers, in an incredibly short time conquered the Murábits and occupied their territories, drove out the Sicilians from Tunis and Tripoli, put an end to the Benee Hammád of Algiers, and finally crossed over to Spain at the request of one of the many princes who had taken advantage of the overthrow of the Murábits to declare themselves independent and to reduce Andalusia a second time to a condition of anarchy which offered no resistance to Christian aggression. The Muwahhids made short work of the conflicting princedoms of Spain, just as they had swept over the several kingdoms of Africa; and by the middle of the sixth century of the Hijrah, Muslim Spain, and Africa from the Atlantic to Egypt, owned no rulers but these 'Unitarian' Khaleefehs. For about a century they held their vast empire, but their hands grew gradually weaker. The defeat of En-Nâsir, the fourth of this line, at the battle of Las Navas, was fatal to the influence of the Muwahhids in Spain, and after the first quarter of the seventh century of the Flight their power across the Straits was merely nominal, and was supplanted by the vigorous rule of the Benee Hood and Benee Naşr, whose efforts, however, were not able to avert the final overthrow of the Muslim power in Spain, which was signalized by the capture of Granada in A.D. 1492 by the armies of Ferdinand and Isabella. The Arabs had governed the Peninsula for nearly eight centuries; their rule at Cordova had been the one bright spot in the dark ages of Europe; the glories of Charles V. and of Philip II. cannot eclipse the splendour of the Moorish supremacy; and Spain has never truly prospered since she drove out her benefactors.

The loss of Spain by the Muwahhids was quickly followed by the destruction of their power in Africa. Before the middle of the seventh century their lieutenants in Tunis, the Benee Ḥafṣ (pp. 51—57), threw off their allegiance; and their rebellious example was followed by the Benee Ziyán (pp. 69—71), of Tilimsán (Tlemçen) in Algiers; meanwhile the Benee Mereen (pp. 58—68) had gradually pushed forward their conquests in Morocco. Thus attacked on all sides, the Muwahhids finally succumbed in A.H. 667. For the next three centuries we find the Benee Mereen ruling Morocco, and the Benee Ḥafṣ, Tunis and Tripoli from Bejáyeh (Bougie) to Egypt; whilst between them the Benee Ziyán maintained, with temporary interruptions, their independence in Algiers, until a little before the end of the eighth century they submitted to the overlordship of the Benee Mereen and ceased thenceforward to be counted among the independent dynasties of Africa. These late Moorish dynasties suffered the common fate of their predecessors. At the beginning of the ninth century of the Flight (A.D. 1415) we find the Portuguese established at Ceuta; and the later princes of the Benee Ḥafṣ paid tribute to the King of Spain. In the middle of the tenth century (A.D. 1550), the Benee Waṭ'as, a younger branch of the Benee Mereen, to whom they had succeeded in Morocco, were conquered by the Shereefs, who have ruled the country ever since and still rule it; and at very nearly the same time Kheyr-ed-deen Barbarossa reduced the greater part of Algiers, Tunis, and Tripoli to the authority of the Porte. The Deys and Beys of the Turkish Sulṭáns ruled in Algiers and Tunis side by side with the Shereef Sulṭán of Morocco, until in A.D. 1830 the French seizure of Algiers placed a barrier between the dominions of the rival heads of the Moham-madan religion. Thus Spain has become Christian, Algiers belongs to France, and Tunis and Tripoli are vassal states nominally under the Porte, but whether really dependent or not, they are too insignificant to be worth the inquiry. Marocco alone remains an independent Muslim state; but its glories are departed. This is what has happened to the wide empire of the Aghlabees and the Muwahhids, and this is the history which is illustrated by the coins included in the first hundred and sixteen pages of the present volume.

* See my Essays in Oriental Numismatics, 1st Series; and Num. Chron., vol. xiii. p. 147 ff. (1873).

The following tables will prove of service in explaining the relations of the various dynasties to one another, and the family connection of the different princes. The first exhibits in a tabular form the succession of dynasties in northern Africa from the Mohammadan conquest to the present day. It is adapted from a similar table in the Baron de Slane's valuable Introduction to his translation of Ibn Khaldoun's Histoire des Berbers. The rest are genealogical trees, for which I have made use of Prof. Tornberg's notes to his Annales Regum Mauritanie.

The series of coins struck by the Murábiṭs, eighty in number, is one of the finest in the National Collection. Not only is every prince represented, except the child-king Ibráheem ibn Táshifeen, who can hardly be said to have reigned; but also a coin appears of an Ibráheem, son of Abou-Bekr, whom the historians do not mention, but whom this piece shows to have been ruling at Sijilmáseh in A.H. 464. The Murábiṭ coinage is mainly of gold: it is clearly stamped, the letters well formed, and the standard high. The weight is very nearly that of the original Amawee deenárs, and averages 61·7 grains. On one coin occur the words وَزَنٌ قَدِيرٌ, old weight, which apparently refer to some mint-reform, but are not justified by any variation from the weight of the preceding coins of the same mint or of the Murábiṭs generally. The inscriptions are very regular, and present little matter for debate. The obverse area invariably contains the profession of faith صَلَّى اللهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ (لا إله إلا الله محمد رسول الله) followed by صَلَّى اللهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ on no. 33, صَلَّى اللهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ on no. 46, and صَلَّى اللهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ on no. 70), beneath which is engraved the name of the reigning sovereign, with the title Prince of the Muslims أَمِيرُ الْمُسْلِمِينَ, (adopted by the Murábiṭs in deference to the 'Abbásee Khaleefehs, whose authority they recognized, and to whom alone belonged in orthodox eyes the title of Prince of the Faithful, أَمِيرُ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ,) under which is inscribed on the later issues of the dynasty the name of the heir-apparent. The obverse margin is occupied by the verse of the K̲ur-án (iii. 79) وَمَنْ يَبْتَغِ غَيْرَ الْإِسْلَامِ دِينًا فَلَنْ يُقْبَلَ مِنْهُ وَهُوَ فِي الْآخِرَةِ مِنَ الْخَاسِرِينَ, preceded in one instance by أَمَنْتُ بِاللَّهِ and in another by بِسْمِ اللَّهِ. The reverse area always contains the inscription إِلَّا مَعَ عَبْدِ اللَّهِ أَمِيرِ الْمُؤْمِنِينَ, to which is added on five late coins (nos. 45, 46, 68, 69, 70) the explanatory adjective الْعَبَّاسِي. The 'Abbásee Khaleefeh who was reigning at the time the Murábiṭs began to issue money was El-Káim, whose name was 'Abd-Allah, as was also his successor's: and the Murábiṭs seem to have regarded this as a generic name of their distant spiritual chiefs at Baghdád. In one case only does the name of the heir-apparent invade the reverse area appropriated to the Khaleefeh. The reverse margin gives the mint and date. It generally begins with بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم, but sometimes with بسم الله. Twice أمر بضرب instead of ضرب occurs; عامر is used alternatively with سنة, and the genders of the mint numerals are consequently, but not regularly, changed. The letters عونك (with two points under the middle) are prefixed to ضرب in one instance; and are not easy to explain. Don Francisco Codera y Zaidin* points and translates them "عونك يا الله, aunoka ya-llah, tu auxilio oh Allah;" in preference I would suggest عَوِذْ يا الله for عَائِذ, I am seeking protection, O God! Ten mints are found in the series, five of which are Spanish (Mursiyeh, El-Mereeyeh, Aghranáṭah, Ishbeeleeeyeh, and Ḳurṭubah), and five African,—Aghmát, Fás, Marrákush, Tilimsán, and Nool-Lamṭah,—the last rare.

The only serious difficulty presented by the Murábiṭ coinage consists in the signs which are found beneath the obv. and rev. areas, and of which Codera has curiously omitted all mention in his otherwise excellent Tratado. Sometimes these are merely annulets or semicircles or the like, but oftener they are letters, or portions of letters, and in a few cases complete words. Of the letters the one most commonly occurring is of this form س, sometimes more nearly approaching the shape of ك; it is found on no Spanish but on all African mints—Aghmát, Tilimsán,

* Tratado de Numismática Árabe-Española, 193. The form of the fourth letter in the inscription, though it may be a káf, is precisely similar to that of several dáls occurring on the coin.

Marrákush, Fás, and Nool-Lamtah,—and ranges in date from 490 (or 486, if we regard س as the same letter in its Koofee form) to 539, and is inscribed on every coin of African minting from 511 to 539. The next frequent letter is م , which occurs on all the coins of El-Mereeyeh from 519 to 539, sometimes accompanied (522—524, 530) by a final ه beneath, and once (in 539) with ع on the other side of the coin. At an earlier date (508) El-Mereeyeh had م ه ع . The solitary example of a Murábit prince with the Kūṭubah mint (of year 492) has م ه ; Ishbeeleyeh م ه (in 510, 519, 520) م ه (522, 525), but م ه in 517 and 518, which last I take to stand for the م ه of which half occurs on the obv. and the other half on the rev. of coins of Aghranáṭah of the years 515 and 516, and which is succeeded by م ه (= عمر) on coins of the same mint in 522 and 523. م ه occurs again on a Cordova coin of 542, issued presumably by Yaḥyá ibn Gháneeyeh, but without the dots beneath; and م ه on a coin of Ishbeeleyeh of 540.

Are these letters abbreviations of the names of governors, or private marks of mint-masters, or signs to show the standard or weight, like وزن قدیر ? A search for the names of the governors of provinces and cities under the Murábits has, I regret to say, produced no results. I have hitherto been unable to discover any governors' names corresponding to the initials on the coins at the periods required. It is, however, possible that further researches may throw some light on the subject. At present I am inclined to regard these ambiguous letters as marks of the mint-masters, not the governors; and if this be the true explanation we should be brought to the supposition that all the African mints were under the same mint-master, but that the Spanish cities generally had separate mint-masters.

The silver coins of the Murábits are few in number, and the British Museum possesses none of the first two princes.

They are minted in three sizes, of the respective diameters .6, .45, .3 inch. On the obverse is generally the formula لا إله إلا الله محمد رسول الله, with the name of the heir-apparent beneath; and the reverse is occupied by the name of the reigning prince, with his title أمير المسلمين, and in the case of 'Alee sometimes, and of Ishāk always, their lakab ناصر الدين, — the only instances of such second titles in the Murābiṭ series. The phrase ولي الله, God befriended, is sometimes prefixed to the Ameer's name. These silver coins have no marginal inscriptions, are with two exceptions mintless, and invariably without date. The signs or letters already discussed seldom occur on them; but we meet with ح (dotted), = between trefoils, and ع, م, on the strength of which we might perhaps venture to assign the three mintless coins on which these letters occur to El-Mereeyeh (early), Aghmát (early), and El-Mereeyeh (late), respectively. One silver coin calls for special notice on account of its peculiar inscriptions: on the obverse, محمد عبد الله ورسوله صلوات الله عليه (read صلوت by Codera, incorrectly); and on the reverse, يستعين بالله أمير المسلمين على. The latter reading is due to Codera.

Two copper coins, bearing the name dirhem, struck at Gharnāṭah, belong to this series, the first of which has U, V and ع on both obv. and rev.

Many diacritical points occur on the Murābiṭ and on all the Moorish coinages. We know from manuscripts that the Maghrabee system of pointing differs from that commonly employed, and the evidence of the coins may be valuable in confirming this knowledge and carrying it back to an early date. The following table has been carefully drawn up from an examination of all the gold coins of the Murābiṭs and Muwahhids, and may be taken as a tolerably complete representation of Arabic pointing in Marocco in the eleventh and twelfth centuries of our era.

A reference to the Index of Points will enable any student to discover how the various points are employed with reference to vowels. For myself, I do not believe that any vowel system can be found in these points. One might assume ° over a letter to represent sukoon, but it occurs over س movent by kesr and fet-ḥ constantly, and over د and ع movent, etc. We find امير pointed عبد, امير; المهدي, المهدي; رسول, رسول; عبيد, عبيد; with many other contradictory examples. I cannot doubt that points and vowel signs were inserted very much at the pleasure of the engraver.

The period which elapsed between the destruction of the Murābiṭ power in Spain and the conquest of Andalusia by the Muwahhids may be called the Second Spanish Interregnum; reckoning the period between the decay of the Khalifate of Cordova and the arrival of the Murābiṭs—the time of the petty kings called Reyes de Táifas in the Tratado—as the First Interregnum. The portion of this volume dealing with the Second Spanish Interregnum must be studied in connection with Vol. II., to which, indeed, some of the coins described in the present volume more properly belong:—in the cataloguing of a large and constantly increasing collection such rectifications are inevitable. To study the coins of the Second Interregnum chronologically, they should be placed in the following order:—1st. The coins of the king of Cordova, Ḥamdeen, of about the year 540 (nos. 227, 228, 229), and of his vassal Sed-dāray ibn Wezeer, king of Badajoz (no. 230). 2nd. The anonymous coins of the years 542 and 546, which, being strictly of the Murābiṭ type, are placed at the end of that series (nos. 81, 82). That the former at least was struck by a partisan of the decayed dynasty (presumably Yaḥyá ibn Gháneeyeh) is shown by its peculiar inscription الأمر بامر الأمير الأمير برهم The party related to the princes of the Muslims the sons of Táshifeen.* 3rd. The issues of Moḥammad ibn Saʿd, King of Mursiyeh, struck in 543, 545, 565 (Vol. II., nos. 167—169).

Before entering upon the subject of the Muwahhids coinage, it will be well to finish the Spanish section by referring to the Third Spanish Interregnum, by which is meant the period elapsing between the fall of the Muwahhids in Spain, the consequence of the defeat of Las Navas, and the conquest of Granada by the Christians, whereby the last blow was given to the rule of the Moors in the Peninsula. The coins belonging to this period in the present volume are those of the Later Benee Hood, who struck at Mursiyeh, Cordova, Seville, and other cities, during the second and third quarters of the seventh century of the Flight (nos. 231—236); the two specimens of Ibn-Mahfooḍh, king of Niebla (nos. 237, 238); and the series of the coins of the Benee Naṣr of Granada (Vol. II. nos. 170—182).

The gold coins of the Muwahhids are remarkable for the profusion of their genealogical information, and their large size, which under all but the first two princes averages 1·17 inch; but owing to their thinness the weight is not very much above that of the best-preserved Murábiṭ deenars, averaging in effect only 70·8, as compared with the Murábiṭ 61·7. The first two princes issued coins of diameter ·8 or ·85 and average weight 35·4, and one small gold coin of weight 18·0. If the large coins were meant to pass as double-deenárs, the earlier 35·4 coinage would be the deenár, and the small piece a half-deenár; and we should place the full weights (allowing for friction) at 36 grains for the deenár, 18 for the half, and 72 for the double. But it is not improbable that the large coins were only what their weight justifies them in being, namely single deenárs; in which case the smaller issue would be half-deenárs, and the little coin a quarter deenár. The gold coins of the Muwahhids are invariably wanting in date, and even the mint appears but rarely. Out of 37 coins, eight have the mint Sebteh, one Fás, and one Sijilmáseh; the remaining 27 being mintless.

* The anonymous coin no. 82, of the year 546, but without mint, was doubtless one of the class issued by followers of the Murábiṭa, and referred to by D. Fr. Codera (Tratado, 206, 207). "Algunos dinares aparacen anónimos, si bien en ellos consta dónde fueron acuñados: en otros, que hemos visto citados, ni esto consta; si el año, que es 545 ó 546.—Hemos visto dinares de estos tipos acuñados en Badajoz, 543,—Baeza, 548,—Para Baeza? Jaen? y Sevilla? 544, 45, y 46.—De Ḥamdín ben Moḥammad ben Ḥamdín de Córdoba, de 539 y 540.—Con un recuerdo de cariño á los descendientes de Texuffin, de Córdoba en 542, y Granada en 545.

On the gold coins the area is always square, defined by single, double, or triple lines. The coin is struck of such a size that the circumference touches the angles of the inscribed square. Four segments of a circle are thus formed between the square and the circumscribed circle, and in these segments the various words composing the marginal inscription are distributed. The obverse area is always set apart for the formulas of faith, لا إله إلا الله, preceded by بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم, and followed by المهدي إمام الأمة; on all but the earliest coins; and on the latest still further amplified. The obverse margin is also occupied by a religious inscription (والهكم الله واحد الخ) until the increased number of ancestors made the space too valuable. 'Abd-El-Mu-min, having no crowned forefathers to record, put the Mahdee's name on the reverse area, and his own in the margin, adding the words الحمد لله رب العالمين, in which we may see the germ of the special motto of his sect—الحمد لله وحده—adopted by Yoosuf I. for official purposes in 561. His son Yoosuf I. transferred the Mahdee to the last line of the obverse area, and gave up the reverse area entirely to the name and title of his father 'Abd-El-Mu-min; putting his own name and title in the reverse margin, and on his later issues repeating them in the obverse margin as well, to the exclusion of the religious formula. This repetition is apparently made with the object of recording the genealogical assumption بن الخلفاء الراشدين, which had not been employed before. Yaḡkoob El-Manṣoor, son of Yoosuf, follows his father's example; but having introduced the double-deenár size, he has more open space to devote to the religious inscriptions, and accordingly makes some additions to them: the reverse area has 'Abd-El-Mumin's name as usual, and beneath it Yoosuf's; Yaḡkoob's being confined to the reverse margin. His son Moḡammad En-Náṣir repeats the Mahdee on rev. area, puts 'Abd-El-Mumin beneath, gives the reverse margin to Yoosuf I., keeps the obverse margin for his own titles; and strangely omits all mention of his father Yaḡkoob. His brother Idrees El-Ma-moon follows the general plan of devoting the obverse area to religion, and the reverse area to 'Abd-El-Mumin, under whom he places both Yoosuf I., and Yaḡkoob; whilst the reverse margin is reserved for his brother En-Náṣir and nephew Yoosuf II., who had preceded him, but not immediately; and the obverse margin records his own titles. Thus on this coin we find not only "El-Jáhid El-Ma-moon, Prince of the Faithful, Abu-l-'Olá Idrees, son of El-Manṣoor, Prince of the Faithful, son of the two Khaleefehs, Princes of the Faithful," but also his nephew's, brother's, father's, grandfather's, and great-grandfather's names and titles, besides the Mahdee, and a reference to the Prophet Moḡammad and his family. The occurrence of the Mahdee's name is important, because it has generally been asserted (e.g. by Ibn-Khaldoon) that El-Ma-moon deserted the faith of his fathers, repudiated in both Khuṭbeh and Sikkeh the Mahdee who founded the Muwaḡḡid sect, and gave in his adherence to the 'Abbásee Khaleefehs of Baghdád. This coin shows that he did nothing of the sort, at least at one time in his reign. Er-Rasheed, son of El-Ma-moon, inscribes his own name in the obverse margin, his father's in the reverse margin, his grandfather's, great-grandfather's, and great-great-grandfather's ('Abd-El-Mu-min) in the reverse area,—in all, five generations. El-Murtada, coming from Yoosuf I., by a different pedigree, omits all mention of intermediate sovereigns; and merely places 'Abd-El-Mu-min in the reverse area, Yoosuf I. in the reverse margin, and himself in the obverse margin. His nephew El-Wáthik follows his example, in recording only the first two sovereigns, and putting his own name in the obverse margin.

Some of the Muwahhid formulas are unusual: e.g. خاتم النبيين ; صلى الله على محمد وآله الطيبين الطاهرين وما توفيقي إلا بالله (from Kur-án, xvi. 55); وما نعمة فمن الله (ix. 90). The religious tenets of the Muwahhids are illustrated by the invariable formula إمام الأمة, the Mahdee is the Imám of the People, and by the genealogical assumption (before referred to) in the phrase بن الخلفاء الراشدين, whereby the Muwahhids indicated their pretension to a descent from the orthodox first Khaleefehs of Islám. They called themselves Khaleefeh and Prince of the Faithful أمير المؤمنين, in contrast to the Murábit المسلمين. The title القائم بأمر الله, which has been curiously supposed to refer to the 'Abbásee Khaleefeh of that name, who had been dead half-a-century, and whose dynasty the Muwahhids did not recognize, certainly belongs to 'Abd-El-Mu-min, and always accompanies his name.

One Muwahhid dirhem has the name of the reigning prince ('Abd-El-Mu-min); the rest are without name of prince, without date, and often without mint. These were probably issued by several of the Muwahhid sovereigns, but there are no data whereby we can assign any of them to any special member of the dynasty. They are all cut in a square shape, with an average diameter of .6 inch, and average weight of about twenty-three grains. Their inscriptions are quite uniform: on the obverse, لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ, beneath which is the mint, if any; and on the reverse, اللَّهُ رَبُّنَا مُحَمَّدٌ رَسُولُنَا الْمَهْدِيُّ, إِمَامُنَا. There are no marginal inscriptions. The last coin of the series alone varies the formulas. There are generally points, annulets, and the like, beneath obverse and reverse, which may possibly be private mint-marks; and the whole surface is sprinkled with points and ornaments. These square dirhems are interesting partly on account of their peculiar shape, which according to Ibn Khaldoon* had been foretold to the Murâbîts as one of the signs of their conqueror, and partly because they served as the model for the copies issued by the mints of the South of France for Mediterranean circulation, and known by the name of Millarès.†

The passage in Ibn Khaldoon is a curious commentary on the square dirhems described in this volume. 'L'Imam, (El-Mahdi,) ayant quitté les Hintata, se dirigea vers Aiguîlin, dans le pays des Herghas, et s'arrêta au milieu de sa tribu. Il y arriva l'an 515 (1121-2). Ayant alors bâti un rabta pour s'y livrer à la dévotion, il attira auprès de lui une foule d'étudiants et de gens de différentes tribus, auxquels il enseigna son Morchida et son Tauhid, rédigés en langue berbère. Le nombre de ses partisans s'accrut tellement que Malek Ibn Woheib, président du corps des savants qui assistaient aux réunions de l'émir Ali-Ibn-Youçof, recommença ses dénunciations. Jouissant d'une certaine réputation comme augure et astrologue, il ne manqua pas d'indisposer son patron contre le Mahdi, et comme les devins avaient prédit qu'un roi de race berber devait nécessairement paraître en Maghreb et changer la forme de la monnaie aussitôt qu'il

y aurait une conjonction des deux planètes supérieures, ce prince s'attendait déjà à quelques malheurs. " Protège l'empire contre cet aventurier, lui disait Ibn Woheib ; c'est assurément l'homme de la conjonction et du dirhem carré ; celui dont il est question dans ces méchants vers en patois qui courent maintenant de bouche en bouche :

Mets-lui les fers aux pieds; ou bien un jour
Il te fera entendre un tambour !

J'ai la conviction que c'est lui qui est l'homme au dirhem carré." "

The coinages of the three dynasties that succeeded to the empire of the Muwahhids closely resemble in size and appearance the gold coins of the Muwahhids, but present no silver coins, which may perhaps be explained by the supposition that some of the square dirhems generally ascribed to the Muwahhids were issued by the Benee Hafs or the Benee Mereen, etc. The occurrence of the same name in the dynastic lists of two or more of these families makes it sometimes difficult to attribute a coin to any of them with certainty. There are, however, certain indications to guide one, in the style, and in the locale. The Benee Hafs always inclose their areas in triple squares, use the formula المهدى إمام الأمة, call themselves أمير المؤمنين, and strike at Tunis, if they give the mint at all. Hence I ascribe nos. 162—5 to 'Abd-El-'Azeez the Hafsee without any hesitation, although there is an 'Abd-El-'Azeez among the Benee Mereen. The Benee Mereen inclose the areas in double circles (or sometimes double squares), omit the Mahdee, call themselves أمير المسلمين,* prefix عن أمر, add the benediction أيده الله, strike at Fās and Marrákush and other western mints (sometimes adding حرسها الله or حرسها الله تعالى), and employ different religious formulas from the Hafsees. It is on the strength of these generalizations that I place the coins of Fáris El-Mutawekkil under the Mereenee coinage, although his name is not found in the historical list of the princes of the Benee Mereen. I suppose him to be the son of the Abou-Fáris who is the twenty-fourth in the list. His change of title to أمير المؤمنين is against the Mereenee attribution; but everything else is in its favour. It is curious that he writes his title in two forms — المتوكل على الله and المتوكل على رب العالمين. The Benee Ziyán struck only at Tilimsán; their coins resemble the Mereenee closely, and as the Benee Mereen wrested Tilimsán twice from the Benee Ziyán for a while, one has to be on one's guard against attributing all coins struck there blindly to the dynasty that generally held the town. Of the first coin, with the name of Moosá, there can be no doubt; but the second, with the name أمير المؤمنين عبد الرحمن ابن الخلفاء الراشدين, is not so easy to identify. There was an 'Abd-Er-Rahmán of the Benee Mereen, as well as two of the Benee Ziyán. But the 'Abd-Er-Rahmán of the Benee Mereen is specially recorded to have reigned at Marrákush whilst Aḥmad (the xixth prince) ruled contemporaneously at Fás, and the former could therefore have had nothing to do with Tilimsán. The inscriptions, moreover, present several deviations from the Mereenee pattern: e.g. أحرسها الله تعالى المسلمين instead of حرسها الله; ولا غالب الا الله the Benee Naṣr symbol, &c. So that on the whole this 'Abd-Er-Rahmán may be assumed to have been one of the two princes bearing that name in the line of the Benee Ziyán.

The long series of unascrbed Moorish gold coins, without name of prince, were probably issued by the Benee Mereen, with whose coinage their general style closely agrees; the mints are also all within Mereenee territory. The inscriptions offer many varieties of religious formulas, and among others the letters ما لعرواح الله, which also occur on a coin of Fâris El-Mutawekkil, and which no one has yet succeeded in deciphering. The best suggestion I have received is that of M. Sauvaire, who proposes to read the inscription ما اقرب فرج الله "How near is the consolation of God!" On one example the third letter, which is generally joined to the fourth, stands separately as an alif. The uncertain king of Marocco, 'Abd-El-'Azeez El-Mustansîr, placed at the end of the series, fairly puzzles me. The style of his coins is that of the Benee-Hafṣ, whilst his obverse is like an early Muwahḥid, and his reverse, with the words عن امر and الله حرسها resembles the Benee Mereen. The collection possesses coins of an 'Abd-El-'Azeez of the Benee-Hafṣ and also of an 'Abd-El-'Azeez of the Benee Mereen; and the two coins of the 'Abd-El-'Azeez first named are irreconcilable with the issues of either of these princes. He may have been an unrecorded sovereign of the Benee Mereen—his mint, Fâs, agrees with this,—or he may have been a governor who made himself independent for a time.

The coins of the Shereefs of Marocco require little notice. The Kūr-ân inscriptions, xxxiii. 33, إِنَّمَا يَرِيدُ اللَّهُ لِيُذْهِبَ and ix. 34, 35, وَالَّذِينَ يَكْتَنُونَ الذَّهَبَ وَالْفِضَّةَ وَلَا يَنْفِقُونَهَا فِي سَبِيلِ اللَّهِ فُذِّقُوا مَا كُنْتُمْ تَكْتَنُونَ and the formulas اللَّهُ حَقٌّ نَاصِرُ الْحَقِّ and غَيْرِ إِلَّا مِنْ (sic) إِلَهِمَا are unusual; and the title of El-Weleed إِمَامُ الْأَيْمَةِ is especially noteworthy. "Arabic" numerals and Indian ciphers occur promiscuously on these coins. The mints الكتاوا or الكتاوة (see pp. 91, 94) and الصُّوِير (not الصُّويرة, as Soret has it) are uncommon. The obscure reverse of no. 287 has been conjecturally read عشر دراهم غية by the Keeper of Coins, and the weight nearly agrees with that of ten normal dirhems: غية (for غاية) is two obscure to be insisted on. The constantly recurring words أَحَدٌ أَحَدٌ (thus pointed) on the coins of the Shereefs can hardly mean "one" dirhem, for they occur on coins of the most diverse weights. They may perhaps be an echo of the cry of the first Muëddin of Islám, Bilál the Abyssinian, who only answered, "One [God], One," to the Kureyah, when they sought to force him by torture to renounce the Muslim faith.

The coins of the dynasties of the Yemen which are placed at the end of this volume deserve to be specially noticed. If the ancient history of Arabia under the Himyerite and Abyssinian rule is obscure and perplexing, its later history under Mohammadan governors is scarcely less confused. Except to record the mishaps of a pilgrimage to Mekkeh, or the internal disturbances of the Holy City, or to note the reduction of the country by the kinsmen of Saladin, the general historians of the East preserve an almost unbroken silence on the government and condition of the country which sent forth the original armies of Islám. Ibn-el-Atheer is almost useless for the history of south-west Arabia, and though Abu-l-Fidá does occasionally devote a paragraph to the affairs of the Yemen, he merely reproduces the statements of the special annalist 'Omárah, whose chronicle is by no means detailed. A manuscript in the collection of the India Office, declared by Dr. Loth to be unique, containing El-Khazrajee's history of the Benee Rasool, which was kindly placed at my service by the Librarian, Dr. Rost, is excellent within its limits; but it is unfortunately confined to the account of the reigns of the earlier sovereigns of the dynasty under which the author lived, and its short introduction on the preceding history presents little that is valuable. In the absence of ampler materials, the numismatist is somewhat at a loss to identify and describe such coins as may appear to belong to the Yemen. It is true that he is not often required to do this, for the number of pieces known to have been issued by Arabian princes is unhappily extremely small; and the help that coins may render to the historian is thus very trifling in the instance of the Yemen coinages, and is still further reduced by the frequent obscurity of the legends. The Arabian coins which I published in the Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society (vol. ix. p. 135 ff.) are almost solitary examples of their kind, and the article serves to show how little is known of the history, and how little is legible of the coins. Several of them present names which, after a long study of Yemen history, I am still unable to identify; and only one of them has sufficiently legible inscriptions to be of any service to the historian. The only other coins of the Yemen that have ever been edited, so far as I am aware, are the few pieces of the modern Imáms of Ṣan'á published by A. Weyl, in his Verzeichniss, 1878; and the three pieces of the same dynasty described by Fraehn in his Nova Supplementa, i. p. 384.

To this scanty list of published coins of Arabia, the thirty-one pieces described in this volume form an important addition. To understand their position in Arabian history, their relations with other Mohammadan coinages, and their value as perhaps the sole monuments of a very obscure branch of oriental history, it is necessary to glance at the principal changes which the government of the Yemen underwent in Muslim hands. The poverty of the materials, already referred to, must make such a review necessarily incomplete, but it is essential to map out, so to say, the country in this division of history, not merely in explanation of the very rare coins at present contained in the National Collection, but also in view of possible discoveries in the same direction in the future.

The history of Arabia after the Mohammadan revolution offers a strong resemblance to its pre-Islamic character. The revolt which followed the death of the Prophet was indeed suppressed for the time by the firm hand of 'Omar and his general Khálid, and Arabia was once more unified: but the slightest symptom of weakness in the government was the sign for a fresh rebellion, and Arabia under the Khaalēfeh was in truth very much the same country as Arabia before Islám :—a country made up of many tribes, most of which repudiated any coalition with the rest,—and of many towns and districts, governed by Sheykhs who were at times independent and at times under control, but who were always ready to assert their independence at the first opportunity, and to call themselves princes or Imáms, and issue coins in their own name, if they were only let alone long enough. The Khaleefehs appointed a governor of the Yemen, and a sub-governor of Mekkeh, or El-Medeeneh, according to the place of residence of the chief governor : but the outlying towns acknowledged practically the authority of their Sheykhs alone. For the first two centuries after the Flight,—up to the time of El-Ma-moon,—these numerous Sheykhs and Ameers seem to have contented themselves with quietly preserving their independence, and satisfying the Khaleefehs with a nominal submission. But in the beginning of the third century, which saw the dismemberment of the great Islamic empire by the rise of powerful dynasties on its skirts, the governor of the Yemen followed the example of the Idreesees and Aghlabees in Northern Africa ; and about the time that the Sámánees and Táhírees were founding their independent dynasties in the north of Persia, Moḥammad ibn Ziyád, instead of submitting to the fate of the fifty and more agents of the Amawee and 'Abbásee Khaleefehs who had preceded him and been successively recalled, established himself and his family firmly at Zebeed, a town he had founded in the Tihámeh, and inaugurated the system of independent dynasties in Arabia.

The *Benee Ziyád ruled at Zebeed for about two centuries, and their kingdom included the towns of Şan'á and Şaadeh, Nejrán and Halee. Under the fourth sovereign much of their power disappeared. Suleymán ibn Taraf made himself independent at Makhláf, struck coins in his own name, and subdued a dominion which was estimated at an annual revenue of 500,000 deenárs. The Karmátee 'Alee ibn El-Faql seized Zebeed for a while in 303. Under the last king, the son of Abu-l-Jeysh, the power was entirely usurped by a succession of slaves, who restored the Ziyádee kingdom to somewhat of its former extent and prosperity. The usurpation of these slaves naturally led to the foundation of a new dynasty. Nejáh, an Abyssinian slave of Marján, the last Ziyádee Maire du palais, after a contest with a rival slave, established the dynasty of the *Benee Nejáh at Zebeed.

Nejáh held Zebeed without dispute till his death in 452; but then the powerful founder of the dynasty of the Benee Şuleyh,† 'Alee ibn Moḥammad, Lord of Şan'á, occupied the capital of the Benee Nejáh,* drove out the sons of the late king, and held the Tihámeh in addition to his own large territory, until in 473 he was murdered by a son of Nejáh. The reign of this son, who immediately entered Zebeed, was disturbed by constant wars with the Benee Şuleyh, who were resolved to recover the territory they had lost. Zebeed was alternately occupied by El-Aḥwal ibn Nejáh, and El-Mukarram ibn 'Alee Es-Şuleyhee, until the death of the former and the accession of his brother Jejáš, joined to the gradual enfeeblement of the Şuleyhees, restored comparative tranquillity, and left Zebeed finally in the hands of the Benee Nejáh, who held it till their house came to its end in 553. The reigns of the fourth and fifth sovereigns were interrupted by rebellions led by Ibráheem and 'Abd-El-Wáhid, sons of Jejáš; and during the rule of the last two kings the supreme power was virtually vested in the hands of Wezeers, whose names may be found in Ibn-ed-Deyba' (ap. Johannsen).

Şan'á was always the capital of the Benee Şuleyh, although they seized Zebeed from the Benee Nejáh, who had imitated the Ziyádees in making it their capital. The Benee Şuleyh held Zebeed from 452—473, during which period Asad ibn Shiḥáb, a brother-in-law of 'Alee, governed it and the Tihámeh, and contributed a million deenárs a year from his province to the general revenue of the Yemen which 'Alee received at Şan'á; again they held it from 475—9, and again from circ. 481 for a short time. After 482, though Sabá made several efforts to retake it, Zebeed remained continually with the Benee Nejáh.

* Abu-l-Fidá places 'Alee's occupation of Zebeed at 454, thus giving two years' reign to the sons of Nejáh.

tral Yemen, and took Şan'á, where they and their successors ruled till the Ayyoobee conquest in 569. Nearly at the same time the dynasty of the *Benæe Zurey' began at 'Aden. Thus we find three great houses governing different parts of the Yemen at this time; the Benæe Nejáh at Zebeed in the southern part of the Tihámeh, or lowland running along the coast of the Red Sea; the Benæe Zurey' at 'Aden, in the extreme south, on the Indian Ocean; and the Hamdánæes at Şan'á in the centre of the Yemen. Besides these we hear of various independent Ameers governing different towns or districts,—as El-Mufaddal Abu-l-Barakát ibn El-Weleed at Ta'izz, in the south, near Mokha, and his son El-Manşoor, who succeeded him and reigned till 547, when he resigned all his territory, save the town of Ta'izz itself, to his neighbours the Benæe Zurey';—and as the Imám El-Mutawekkíl Aḥmad ibn Sulaymán who governed Şaḍdeh and Nejrán in the north from 533 to 563 (died 566).

The Ayyoobee conquest in 569 is the great crisis in the mediæval history of Arabia. The kinsmen of Saladin swept over the Yemen and overturned its dynasties with the same uncompromising thoroughness as they displayed in the other provinces they invaded. The houses of the Hamdánæes of Şan'á and the Benæe Zurey' of 'Aden were put to an end by the Kurdish conqueror, Toorán-sháh, and

* The dates of the Benæe Zurey' are not as a rule recorded; the order of their kings is given as:—I. Zurey' ibn El-'Abbás ibn El-Mukarram, and Mes'ood ibn El-Mukarram, joint kings. II. Aboc-Sa'ood ibn Zurey', and Aboc-Ghárát ibn Mes'ood, joint kings. III. Moḥammad ibn Abec-Ghárát. IV. His brother 'Alee. V. Sabá ibn 'Abee-Sa'ood. VI. El-Aghurr ibn Sabá. VII. El-Mo'aḍḥqḥam Moḥammad ibn Sabá. VIII. El-Mukarram 'Imrán ibn El-Mo'aḍḥqḥam. The beginning of the dynasty is placed the Benee-l-Mahdee,* who had succeeded the Benee Nejáh at Zebeed in 554, met with the like fate; and for more than fifty years the Yemen remained in the hands of the great family which held Egypt and Syria and Mesopotamia. The Ayyoobees † placed their own governors in the different towns, and though on the death of Toorán-sháh in 576 all these governors declared themselves independant, and some (as Khattáb ibn El-Kámil, who succeeded his brother Mubárak as governor of Zebeed) went so far as to issue coins in their own names, their rebellion was very short-lived, and the Ayyoobee authority was never in any real danger.

On the death of the last of the Ayyoobees, the Yemen at 508 by Prof. Wright (Cat. Cod. Arab. Mus. Brit. p. 673), but if this is correct they must soon have lost their possessions, for Abu-l-Fidá states that a certain legate from Egypt, 'Alee, governed 'Aden from 513 to 520. The middle dates are obscure. The death of the last king is generally placed at 560, and a certain Yásir ibn Bilál is recorded to have been found ruling 'Aden by the Ayyoobees in 569: but Ibn-Hátim (MS. Brit. Mus.) states that in 569 'Imrán was still alive at 'Aden, and describes Yásir as Sheykh.

* Three princes of the house of the Benee-l-Mahdee reigned at Zebeed:—

	A.H.
I. 'Alee ibn El-Mahdee (for two months)	554
II. El-Mahdee ibn 'Alee	554
III. 'Abd-en-Nabee ibn 'Alee	558 to 569

The last king was ousted from his throne for a while by his brother 'Abd-Allah.

† The branch of the Benee Ayyoob that ruled in the Yemen numbered six princes:—

	A.H.
I. El-Mo'aqhdham Toorán-sháh ibn Ayyoob	569
II. Seyf-el-Islám Tughtekeen ibn Ayyoob	577
III. Mo'izz-ed-deen Ismá'eel ibn Tughtekeen	593
IV. En-Násir Ayyoob ibn Tughtekeen	598
V. El-Mudhaffar Suleymán ibn Takee'-ed-deen 'Omar ibn Sháhánsháh ibn Ayyoob	611
VI. El-Mes'ood Šaláh-ed-deen Yoosuf ibn El-Kámil Mohammad ibn Abee-Bekr ibn 'Ayyoob	612 to 625

The dates here given are from Abu-l-Fidá, whose kinship makes him the leading authority on Ayyoobee history; but the special historian of the Benee Rasool, El-Khazrajee (MS. India Office), agrees with him, except that he places the accession of Seyf-el-Islám at 579 instead of 577, and that he gives the alternative dates of 610 or 611, and 625 or 626, for the accession of El-Mudhaffar and the death of El-Mes'ood, respectively.

was subdued by the Benee Rasool.^{*} For the history of this dynasty, which included fifteen sovereigns, and reigned over every part of the province, from Hadramaut to Mekkeh, for two centuries and a quarter, we have fortunately not only the general Yemenee chronicle of Ibn-ed-Deyba', who becomes much more detailed at this period, but also for more than half the time the special history written by El-Khazrajee, who lived under the eighth prince of the Benee Rasool, and recorded the deeds of his master and his master's ancestors with much minuteness. The Rasool from whom the line took their name appears to have been an envoy of the 'Abbásee Khaleefeh. His son 'Alee Shems-ed-deen was appointed governor of Mekkeh by the Ayyoobee El-Mes'ood in 619, and 'Alee's son, El-Manşoor Noor-ed-deen 'Omar, seized the occasion of El-Mes'ood's death to make himself master of the Yemen and part of the Hijáz, and firmly established his dynasty in Arabia, where it remained in almost undisputed supremacy until the middle of the ninth century of the Flight, when civil war and rival claimants prepared the way for the succession of the Benee Táhir,† who governed the Yemen until El-Hoseyn, general of the last Memlook Sultán Kánsooh El-Ghooree, reduced Arabia, and the 'Othmanlee Turks appropriated the country thus made ready for their rule in 923 (1517). Since that date the Yemen has been divided between the Turks and a line of Imáms which arose at Şan'á, until the final abolition of the latter in the present century.

Before speaking of the modern Imáms of Šan'á it is necessary to state that there have been Imáms in the Yemen from very early times; in fact it would be hazardous to affirm that there ever was a time, after the third century of the Hijrah, when there was not an Imám holding some territorial command in that province. Unfortunately it is extremely difficult to establish the order, dates, and range of authority of these Arabian popes. That they were seldom content with merely spiritual rule is certain: but how far they succeeded in extending their temporal authority over the turbulent tribes, and the independent town-Sheykhs, and in maintaining it against the several dynasties that successively obtained the supreme control of the greater part of Arabia Felix, are questions that appear unlikely to be solved. The historians who are sparing of their facts about the principal lay-dynasties of the Yemen, are commonly still more grudging of information about the spiritual rulers of the province. Published historical works, the MSS. of the British Museum and of the India Office, have been ransacked in the hope of clearing up this obscure subject sufficiently to illustrate the coins of the Arabian Imáms described in the present volume of the Catalogue: but my success has been limited. The most valuable notes I could gather were from the MSS. of Ibn-ed-Deyba' and Ibn-Hátim in the British Museum (Add. 25,111 and 27,541, nos. MCCCCLXXIV. and MDLXXXIV. in Dr. Wright's Catalogus Cod. Arab. in Mus. Brit.), and El-Khazrajee's history of the Bence Rasool in the India Office Library (no. 1311, or 710 in Dr. Loth's Catalogue of the Arabic Manuscripts in the Library of the India Office); whilst of printed books, the Boulak text of Ibn-Khaldoon's great historical work (كتاب العبر), and Johannsen's annotated version of Ibn-ed-Deyba's history of Zebeed (Bonn, 1828), have proved more useful than any others. The results, however, of a study of these authorities are incomplete and unsatisfactory.

Hence it was found impossible to prefix a list of Imáms to the early Yemen coins described on pp. 126—8. This much is certain, that a race of Imáms, called the Benee-r-Rasee, ruled at Şaadeh from the end of the third century of the Flight till the middle of the fourth century. Ibn-Khaldoon and Ibn-ed-Deyba' agree in placing a certain El-Hádee Yahyá ibn El-Ḥoseyn ibn El-Kásim as the first of these Imáms of Şaadeh, but there is much uncertainty about both the number and the order of El-Hádee's successors. The general conclusion seems to be that El-Hádee reigned from 288 to 298, and was succeeded by his son El-Murtadá Moḥammad, who in turn bequeathed the throne to his brother En-Násir Aḥmad in 320; and that the sons of Aḥmad, whose names, number, order, and dates, are matters of dispute, held their father's Imámate until 344; when another, and more obscure, line of princes took possession of Şaadeh; only in turn to give place to the Benee Suleymán, one of whom, El-Mutawekkil Aḥmad, held the town along with Nejrán from 533 to 563, almost, in short, to the Ayyoobee conquest. During the supremacy of the family of Ayyoob in Arabia,—loyal if masterful servants of the Prince of the Faithful who kept court at Baghdád,—heretical Imáms were emphatically discountenanced in the Yemen. But on the release from the Ayyoobee yoke, and the accession of the Benee Rasool, Imáms immediately began to reappear; and the Benee-r-Rasee were revived in the person of Aḥmad ibn El-Ḥoseyn (646—656), who made the capital Şan'á his residence, and was no longer content to be called Imám of Şaadeh. In the history of the Benee Rasool we hear constantly of petty wars between the princes of that dynasty and the Imáms of Şan'á; but though El-Khazrajee mentions several Imáms after Aḥmad ibn El-Ḥoseyn, he generally leaves their dates unrecorded. A certain Imám En-Násir was ruling in Şan'á on the Rasoollee conquest of that city in 866, and his son Moḥammad was allowed to succeed to the Imámata. Niebuhr in his Description de l'Arabie mentions this line of Imáms, who had retired before his time to Kawkebán, giving place to a new dynasty of Imáms of Şan'á, who survived to the Turkish conquest. Niebuhr mentions the names of five Imáms (Ummed-ed-deen, El-Mahdee, El-Mutahhar, Shems-ed-deen, and Shereef-ed-deen) who ruled at Şan'á before the old dynasty was ejected by the modern line; and the names of seven Seyyids of Kawkebán, as the exiled house was then styled, ('Alee ibn Shereef-ed-deen, 'Abd-Er-Rabb, Naşr, 'Abd-el-Kádir, Hoseyn, Moḥammad, and Aḥmad, who was ruling in 1763;) and he gives a list of the new line of Imáms of Şan'á, down to his own time, which is reproduced on p. 129.

Such are the unsatisfactory results of a long and laborious investigation of the records of Oriental historians. We learn that in the fourth century of the Flight there was an early line of Imáms of Şaḍdeh, called the Benee-r-Rasee, but we are uncertain as to the majority of their dates, and as to the order and names of several of the sovereigns. After an interval, we find the Benee Suleymán holding the title of Imám in the sixth century of the Hijrah. In the time of the Benee Rasool, the old house of the Benee-r-Rasee was restored; and the Imámata of Şan'á continued down to the Turkish reconquest in the present century, with probably an interruption at the beginning of the tenth century, when Arabia first fell into 'Othmánlee hands. The Imámata of Şan'á, though it lasted so many centuries, changed hands about A.H. 1040, when a new line of Imáms occupied the city, and the old family adopted the title of 'Seyyids' and retired to Kawkebán.

Of these Arabian dynasties, the British Museum is fortunate enough to possess in all thirty-one coins; of which, however, twenty-four were issued by the modern Imáms of Şan'á, and are of small interest. The first seven coins present much that is curious. The first is a deenár of 'Alee ibn Moḥammad, of the Benee Şuleyh, similar to the two published by me in the Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society, vol. ix. p. 138. It presents the peculiarity of the insertion of the obscure word الكسية after الدينار. The second is a deenár struck at 'Aden by 'Imrán ibn Moḥammad, the last king of the Benee Zurey'; with the word المكرومية or المظفرية (probably the epithet of the 'Aden coinage) at the end of the obv. margin, and the peculiar reverse inscription already described in the Journal of the Royal Asiatic Society (ubi supra pp. 136, 137). Two coins of the Benee Rasool, of El-Muäyyad and El-Mujáhid; with somewhat remarkable marginal legends, complete the series of the lay-coins of the Yemen. The Imáms of Şaadeh are represented by El-Hádee the first Imám of the Benee-r-Rasee, and Er-Rádee, whom I take (at M. Tiesenhausen's suggestion) to be the second Imám, called by the historians El-Murtaḏá. All the three coins of these two Imáms have strange marginal inscriptions, which I have been unable as yet to decipher, but which doubtless contain the formulas of faith of the particular sect of the Zeydeeyeh to which these Imáms belonged. A dirhem of Aḥmad ibn El-Ḥoseyn, who restored the dynasty of the Benee-r-Rasee in 646, is also found in the collection, and from this specimen we learn that this Imám styled himself El-Mahdee and Ameer-el-Mumineen. The twenty-four coins of the modern Imáms of Şan'á are not remarkable, except for the doubtful mint Akşará, on no. 365, and the obscure word on the obverse of the concluding coin, no. 388. The whole thirty-one coins of the Yemen cannot, however, be denied a great importance as additions to a series which was little known before.

The authorities consulted for the dates of the Yemen dynasties have already been mentioned. For the African dynastic lists Ibn-Khaldoon's Histoire des Berbers has been my principal authority; but for the later dates I have made use of M. Léon Godard's Description et histoire du Maroc (Paris 1860), and two native epitomes published at Tunis, the Kitáb el-Moonis (Tunis 1286) of Ibn 'Omar, and El-Bájee's El-Khulásah En-Nekeeyeh.

In conclusion, I have to express my acknowledgements to Drs. Rieu and Rost, for the assistance they kindly rendered me in making use of the MSS. of the British Museum and the India Office; and to Prof. Wright, Dr. Neubauer, MM. Tiesenhausen, Sauvaire, and Codera, and Mr. R. Lane Poole, for sundry notes and suggestions relating to the coins described in the present volume; and I must add that this volume, like those preceding it, owes much to the minute revision of the Editor.

Pl. V. N° 1'0, Wt. 60'9

* The decay of the power of the Khaleefehs of Cordova was followed by the rise of a number of petty dynasties (Catalogue, vol. ii. pp. 29—42), such as the 'Abbadees and 'Amirees, who divided the once united kingdom among them: these were swept away by the Murābiṭeen, but again on the fall of this dynasty various small principalities sprang up, of which that of the Benee Saad at Mursiyeh was the most enduring (Cat. ii. 43, 44). This Ḥamdeen ibn Moḥammad, like his conqueror Ibn-Ghāneeyeh, and his vassal Ibn-Wezeer, is an example of the petty kings of this second period of anarchy. When the Muwāḥḥids in their turn grew weak, a third birth of small dynasties took place, and to this latest time (the interval between the decline of the Muwāḥḥids and the Christian supremacy) belong the princes here next following, the Late Benee Hood and Ibn Maḥfooḥ, as well as the great house of the Benee Naṣr of Granada (Cat. ii. 45—52).

† Ḥamdeen was ejected from Cordova in 539 by Seyf-ed-dawleh Ibn Hood, but recovered it again in 540; finally yielding it to Ibn Ghāneeyeh in 541.

PL. V. Æ 45, Wt. 11·5

* This prince is described as independent lord of Badajoz, Beja, and Western Andalusia: but on this coin he clearly pays homage to Ibn-Ḥamdeen of Cordova. The date of the coin is nearly fixed, by this conjunction of names, to 540 circ. Ibn Wezeer submitted in 541 to the Muwāḥḥids, and was appointed to a command in their army against the Christians.

* Our knowledge of even the bare names of the Imáms of the Yemen is extremely incomplete. Ibn-ed-Deyba' and Ibn Khaldoon place one El-Hádee as the first of the line, and this is probably the Imám whose name occurs on the following coins, nos. 361, 2. The earlier Imáms held their court at Şaadeh: then they occupied Şan'á; and finally retired to Kaukebán, when the new line of Imáms established itself at Şan'á. See Introduction.

* El-Khazrajee mentions in his History of the Benee Rasool (MS. India Office) an Imám of Ṣan'á, Aḥmad ibn El-Ḥoseyn El-Ḳásimee, who played an important part in the events of the Yemen in the seventh century of the Flight; and his reign appears to have lasted from 646 to 656. See also Ibn-Khaldoon's Ta-reekh, ed. Boulak, iv. 112, where this Aḥmad is stated to have belonged to the Benee-r-Rasee.

* Niebuhr makes El-Hádee reign from 1094-6: this coin prolongs his reign to at least 1100.

† The following coin, no. 366, may have been struck by El-Mahdee Aḥmad, the Fourth Imám, or El-Mahdee Moḥammad, the Sixth. It is so unlike the certain issues of the Eleventh Imám, El-Mahdee El-'Abbás, that it may be taken for granted it was not struck by him. No. 367 of course belongs to the Sixth Imám; no. 368 is doubtful.

* Some names, e.g. among the Bense Mereen, will be found in the relative instead of the subjective case (e.g. ابى instead of ابو): this is explained by the occurrence of the words عن امر, which are prefixed to these names on the coins. A letter inclosed in brackets (e.g. بن[ى]) in an inscription occurring on several coins means that the letter so enclosed is omitted on one or more of the coins referred to.
